In 2013, Oyu Tolgoi connected Khanbogd soum, Umnugovi aimag to a permanent power supply. This benefits every household and organisation in Khanbogd. With a power supply ensured, our family could launch our bakery production business.

Permanent power was a great advance in people's living standards. We now can watch TV, use the internet and have access to news and information. The lighting in the town is very good now. People can now use electric appliances like fridges and electric stoves.

Now that we have permanent power, we no longer have to use fire stoves. We have electric heaters now. Previously, giving birth after midnight was very difficult. We had to light candles. Some people had to get gasoline and power generators. From an economic point of view, power was the thing that was most needed by people, so I think there has been a great impact on the lives of people in Galbyn Gobi.

B. KHUYAG

We had limited time to do our work when there were power restrictions. At the time when we were very busy, we had to spend our time and money using small power generators. Now we have permanent and reliable power and everything can be done on time.
